- -Prof. Foster lectured at the court house Tuesday evening on "Light, Heat and Electricity," and closed with a concert. We are informed that the concert was very good; that the lecture consisted of a number of rambling, disconnected statements, some of which were true and some of which were not true. The electric light, electric engine and phonograph were somewhat interesting to those who saw them for the first time. His explanations of the principles involved were not all clear, he appears to be one of those with whom language is the art of con-cealing rather than of expressing thought. On that whole, it is said, that, there were, about the evenings opterfalument, some less nothing amuseing, nothing very useful, and nothing specially harmful, unions the lecturer tooled some into believing that after they had listened to him they knew something about electricity.
